Dag Presses Plan to Settle Congo Problem

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld pressed ahead today with plans for a committee of nations to advise on operation of the 15,000-man force serving under the U. N. banner in the Congo.

Hammarskjöld's task in the Congo was eased—for the time being at least—by Premier Patrice Lumumba's withdrawal of demands for U. N. aid to whip secessionist Katanga into line.

Hammarskjöld had decided his position would be less vulnerable if he formed the advisory group, in procedure, he found, successful in directing the U. N. Emergency Force in Palestine. The advisers will be from the nations whose soldiers are in the U. N. Congo Command.

Lumumba backed down after all but the two Communist members of the Security Council on Sunday endorsed the secretary-general's refusal to let the U. N. force become involved in the Congo's internal political troubles.

It was a "pointed rejection" of Lumumba's demand that U. N. forces be used to put the central Congo government in control of rich Katanga province, whose Premier Moïse Tshombe is leading a move to make the Congo a loosely organized federation of semi-autonomous provinces.

Lumumba changed his tune after a three-hour conference with the Soviet ambassador to the Congo, Mikhail D. Yakovlev.

The government "sees no reason to press its demands," said a spokesman for Lumumba, adding a seemingly face-saving comment that "the government is satisfied that Belgian soldiers will be withdrawn" and "considers the atmosphere good."

New Filter Desalts Water Fast

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Two university engineers have developed a new desalting filter which they say can produce drinkable water 10 times faster than previous methods.

Sidney Loeb and Dr. Srinivas Sourirajan of the University of California at Los Angeles said Monday that their synthetic film yields consumable water at the rate of eight gallons a day for each square foot of membrane area.

Membranes have been used before to desalt water, but the engineers say that so far such filters are too slow for commercial purposes.

Their membrane is produced by mixing cellulose acetate with a water solution of magnesium perchlorate and acetone. This sticky mixture is spread on a glass plate and, when dry, is stripped away in a film four one-hundredths of an inch thick.

It is cheap, durable and can be used 24 hours a day without maintenance or power, the engineers said. They say they have made potable water from brine containing 6.25 per cent salt concentration, which is much saltier than ordinary ocean water.

GOPs Believe Campaign Is Going Well

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republican congressional leaders told President Eisenhower today that the political campaign is "going very well" for his side.

Senate GOP leader Everett M. Dirksen and House leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana said they discussed "politics generally" with the President, including the farm problem.

On the other side of the political fence, Sen. Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash.) said he admires the courage but doubts the political wisdom of Vice President Richard M. Nixon's decision to campaign in the Deep South.

Harriman Talks to Red Envoy

WASHINGTON (AP)—W. Averell Harriman talked for two hours with Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Gromyko, but said later "there was no political significance to anything that we said."

Harriman, former New York governor and a longtime U. S. ambassador to the Soviet Union, said Gromyko invited him in Monday night to see the embassy and to chat, with no attempt at discussing any serious problems.

Harriman said he told Gromyko he would inform Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev that Kennedy would be the next president of the United States, and to make his plans accordingly.

Harriman came to Washington for a State Department briefing on the State Department's fact-finding tour of western Africa on behalf of Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic presidential nominee.

380,043 Bales of Cotton Ginned

Voting Probe Ends at Camden

CAMDEN, ARK. (AP)—The Ouachita County Grand Jury today closed out its investigation of alleged voting irregularities in the July 2 Democratic primary without returning additional indictments.

The jury recessed, subject to call by Circuit Judge Gus Jones of El Dorado.

Four persons were indicted in the first phase of the investigation which ended Aug. 6. They are W. C. Henderson, Bill Purifoy, C. D. Biggers and Maggie Martin, all free on bond.

Trials of the four of charges of voting fraud have been postponed indefinitely because of the illness of a defense attorney.

Dishonored Sergeant to Join Castro

By RICHARD C. MASSOCK
HAVANA (AP)—A dishonorably discharged U. S. Air Force sergeant who once tried to defect to the Soviet Union said today the Cuban air force is considering his application for a job in Fidel Castro's intelligence service.

Paul D. Wilson, 31, of Indianapolis, Ind., said Castro's secretary, Juan D. Orta, wired him the air force would get in touch with him.

Wilson told newsmen Monday he hoped to join Castro as a "loyal Cuban patriot."

Wilson said he was in the U. S. Air Force 12 years and tried to defect to the Soviet Union while serving in Germany but was caught by U. S. military police. He subsequently was sentenced to three years in prison and a dishonorable discharge for desertion, larceny and forgery. He was freed after serving part of his term in a federal prison in the United States.

His former wife, Loyce Sims, and two children, Ralph II, and Paula, 4, live in Indianapolis. His mother lives in North Miami Beach, Fla.

Another new defector from the United States, Polish-born U. S. Army Specialist 5th class Vladimir Sloboda, "had lost a lot of money gambling" and had been very depressed, according to the British wife he left in Frankfurt, Germany, with their three children.

The Soviet government newspaper Izvestia announced Sloboda had crossed into East Germany and asked for asylum in the Soviet Union. He had been a U. S. citizen for only two years.

A U. S. Army spokesman said Sloboda, 33, although attached to a military intelligence unit at Frankfurt, was used as a linguist and clerk and had "only very limited access to any security information."

Louisianans Vow Fight for Rights

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Louisiana's new Sovereignty Commission has vowed it "will make every effort to regain and recover the rights which have been lost."

The vow was contained in a statement issued after the commission held a closed meeting here yesterday. The commission was formed to protect states' rights and segregation.

The statement also praised Gov. James Davis for taking over the Louisiana public school system. Davis seized control of the schools last Wednesday in an effort to head off integration of the first grade, ordered by U. S. District Judge J. Skelly Wright for next month.

Bus Drivers on Strike in Boston

BOSTON (AP)—A transit strike called over a bus driver's refusal to work overtime today left 700,000 commuters without public transportation, and touched off a massive traffic jam.

The shutdown hit the Metropolitan Transit Authority system suddenly Monday—just before the 5 o'clock rush. Thousands of persons were stranded for hours.

Commuters headed for their jobs today in private automobiles, clogging highways into the downtown area.

Railroads added extra cars—and made unscheduled stops at closed stations—in an effort to help out in the jam.

Boston banned all downtown parking on orders of the fire department. Public parking lots filled quickly. Taxicabs did a thriving business.

Gov. Foster Furcolo met during the night with MTA and other officials, and called in the Executive Council, an elected advisory body, to ask for emergency powers under which he could seize the system.

The Council divided 3-3 and refused to go along with the request, backing instead an opposition proposal for further efforts to settle the dispute.

The governor recalled the council for a second emergency meeting.

The shutdown, which arose over union resentment in suspension of a driver who refused to work overtime, cut off public transportation in 14 communities in metropolitan Boston.

An MTA spokesman said only two minutes of overtime was involved. The driver disputed that, asserting the run he was asked to take out would have kept him half an hour overtime.

Insurance Men Must Take Tests

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Health and accident insurance salesmen in Arkansas will begin taking examinations for licenses in late September.

Harvey Combs, state insurance commissioner, said he expects about 500 agents to take the tests, which were set up when the 1959 Legislature amended Arkansas' insurance code.

A new provision of the code requires all agents to be residents of Arkansas.

Students From Africa to Get U. S. Funds

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department acknowledged today it agreed to offer funds to transport African students to this country after intercession by a pollent aide to Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

William B. Macomber Jr., assistant secretary of state, said the department's approval, reversing decisions dating back to August 1959, was communicated directly to Nixon campaign aide James Shroyer last week.

Macomber's letter was made public by Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.) who called it "a sorry performance" in a Senate speech deploring "a department which is so susceptible to outside pressures."

Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said Shroyer and the State Department "unfetter the project on a crash basis" after learning that the family of Sen. John F. Kennedy—Nixon's rival for the presidency—had agreed to put up $100,000 to transport the students here.

"It is quite clear that the department reversed itself on what is construed to be the orders of Mr. Shroyer," Fulbright said.

Macomber's letter said the department, after looking further into the project at Shroyer's request, found that some aspects about which it had had misgivings had been cleared up.

One point with which the department had been concerned, he said, was "the manner in which the students were looked out for once they reached this country."

He said these doubts were cleared away when sponsors of the project to bring 250 African scholarship students to study in U. S. colleges agreed to work with the Institute of International Education.

This decision was reached Monday a week ago—just two days after Shroyer telephoned Macomber and urged the State Department to review its earlier refusal to provide funds for the project.

"I understand that the vice president was unaware of Sen. Kennedy's interest at this time or any time prior to when the department's ultimate offer and the foundation's rejection was reported in the press," Macomber said.

Fulbright said Nixon had interceded himself previously in obtaining funds to bring 250 Africans here to study under scholarship grants in American colleges but the State Department had taken the position it had no money for the project.

The matter rested there, Fulbright said, until Shroyer got word that the Kennedy Foundation had agreed to finance the transportation of the students. At that point, Fulbright said Shroyer entered into it "on a crash basis."

Kennedy told the Senate that his family foundation had agreed to underwrite the cost of transporting the students and to assist in meeting their living costs while here only with reluctance because of other commitments.

He also said he had insisted that the foundations' support not be publicized, but said that word of it apparently got to someone in the State Department.

Report Indicates Mr. Truman Let Stalin Talk Him Into Stalling Jap Peace Feeler

WASHINGTON (AP)—Britain's Winston Churchill warned Harry S. Truman about Soviet expansion plans before the U. S. president went to Potsdam in 1945, it was reported today.

And after Truman got to the wartime parley with Churchill and Soviet Premier Joseph Stalin, he found the Reds defending their land grabs in Eastern Europe and reaching for more.

This was reported by the Minneapolis Tribune and the Des Moines Register & Tribune in the third of a series of four articles by Fletcher Knebel and Charles W. Bailey on the still-unpublished Potsdam papers.

The State Department, which periodically publishes state documents of historical interest, has so far refused to remove secrecy from the Potsdam papers.

An inquiry is under way on how they were "leaked" to the press.

The July 17-Aug. 2, 1945, meeting at Potsdam near Berlin, was the last of the big World War II conferences among the major allies. It made postwar plans including provisions for democratic processes in Eastern Europe—which the Soviets never lived up to.

The Knebel-Bailey account said the Potsdam papers show the Western foreign ministers, James P. Byrnes for the United States and Anthony Eden for Britain, argued daily in vain with Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov over Communist activities in Bulgaria, Romania, Yugoslavia, Italy, Greece and Poland, and "there was no solution to be found."

Churchill voiced his concern over the Soviet takeovers in a May 11, 1945, cable to Truman—two months in advance of the Potsdam gathering. Just a month earlier, on April 12, Truman had become president upon the death of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

An earlier Knebel-Bailey article said that Stalin, with the approval of Truman, stalled a Japanese peace feeler three weeks before the first atomic bomb destroyed Hiroshima.

After the feeler reportedly was made through Moscow, the Japanese were formally asked to surrender and formally rejected the ultimatum before the bomb was dropped.

The same published reports say the documents relate that Stalin once praised Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as an "honest man" for turning over the Soviets 135,000 German troops who had tried to surrender to the Americans.

These statements appear in articles being published by the Minneapolis Tribune and the Des Moines Register & Tribune under the bylines of Fletcher Knebel and Charles W. Bailey of the Washington bureau of the Cowles News-Papers.

The articles are described as being based on hitherto undisclosed official papers on the Potsdam conference.

Truman has not commented on the articles.

The Potsdam meeting was held July 17-Aug. 2, 1945, and was the last big wartime conference of the major allies.

The State Department still has a secrecy lid on the Potsdam papers. Press officer Lincoln White said the documents probably will be ready for publication early next year.

The department is making an inquiry to find out who leaked the documents to the press, and for what purposes. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter reportedly had ordered publication of the documents withheld until after the November elections.

Knebel and Bailey said the documents prepared by State Department historians total more than 2,000 pages and that some of the material came from notes made by Charles E. Bohlen, now a special adviser to Herter on Soviet affairs. Bohlen served as interpreter for Truman at Potsdam.

Asks Permit for a Bulk Feed Station

John Randolph, vice president of Corn Belt Hatching Co. has applied to the city of Hope for a permit to construct a bulk feed station to be erected on the L&A tracks at 3th Street.

The proposed location of the plant will be at the location of the old section house at that address.

This plant will handle bulk feed and will replace the temporary installation now located on the railroad right of way at 3th Street.

Cotton Is Cutting Out in County

Cotton is beginning to cut out in many areas of southwest Arkansas and the most often asked question by farmers at this time is, "When should I stop my insecticide applications?"

Grover Doyell, Extension entomologist, says that control applications are very seldom needed after cotton has stopped blooming. The exception is when boll weevils continue to attack small bolls.

There were 106 fields scouted in southwest Arkansas for the week ending Aug. 19. There were 49 infested with boll weevils, 89 with bollworms and no aphids or spidermites were found.

Third generation boll weevil emergence is general. Boll weevils are migrating from the cotton that has cut out to the more succulent cotton. For this reason farmers who are irrigating their cotton should keep a close check of weevil activity.

Fourth generation bollworm moths are emerging in large numbers and farmers should remember that bollworm applications should not be applied during the hot part of the day. Later afternoon or early morning applications are more conducive to good control. Keys to good control are correct timing and good coverage.

Cabbage loopers are also appearing in a number of cotton fields. Cabbage loopers have built up a resistance toward the chlorinated hydrocarbon insecticides, thus rendering them ineffective. Methyl parathion applied at the rate of one-half pound per acre will give economic control.

It usually takes two applications, at 4 to 5 day intervals, to obtain control.

If cotton leaf worms appear in damaging numbers, then calcium arsenate, malathion, or methyl parathion should be applied for their control.

Nixon Medical Plan Fails in the Senate

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate today turned down a Republican medical care plan introduced by the party's presidential nominee, Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

The rejection cleared the way for the key test later in the afternoon on whether to accept a Democratic proposal for a health benefits plan linked into the Social Security system.

A vote on that was set for 9 p. m., with predictions of a close division.

This formula had the full backing of the Democratic presidential nominee, Sen. John F. Kennedy.

The GOP proposal called for 600 million dollars in annual federal state grants to help buy health insurance protection for persons over 65.

Earlier, Republicans hinted that President Eisenhower might veto any medical care plan tied into the Social Security program, if that is what Congress enacts.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois talked of a veto after GOP congressional leaders had their regular weekly meeting with Eisenhower.

Dirksen didn't quote the President, but on the basis of Eisenhower's previous statements Dirksen said, he might very conceivably disapprove a plan tying medical care for the aged into the Social Security system.

On the other hand, Dirksen said, Eisenhower probably would approve the Javits proposal. He said it contains many of the features Eisenhower has advocated including federal-state grants to help the aged meet medical bills.

This proposal is sponsored by Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-N.Y.) as a rival to the Kennedy-backed Social Security plan.

Sen. Brandon B. Johnson of Texas, the Democratic leader and party vice presidential nominee, told newsmen at the Capitol that even the Javits plan marked an administration move toward the Democratic view.

Some Democrats said privately as the showdown approached that they could not see how the Kennedy-backed proposal could win without votes of several Republicans. There is opposition to it from some Southern Democrats.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the Republican presidential nominee, is backing the Javits proposal.

Both parties believe that at least to some extent the outcome will affect the votes of 16 million Americans over 65. Also concerned are many younger persons now supporting aged relatives.

The Javits proposal was to be voted on first, to be followed if it is beaten by a vote on the social security amendment offered by Sen. Clinton P. Anderson (D-NM) with Kennedy's backing.

The Anderson amendment would raise the social security payroll tax 1

Hammerstein, of Musical Fame Dies

DOYLESTOWN, Pa. (AP)—Oscar Hammerstein II, whose magic lyrics have brought laughter and tears to Americans for 40 years, died of stomach cancer today at the age of 65.

His death at his beloved country home of Highland Farms, far from the glitter of Broadway, ended one of the brightest careers in theatrical history.

The big gentle man who penned the words of such songs as "O! Man River," "Who?" "The Last Time I Saw Paris," "When I Grow Old to Dream," "Only Make Believe," "Some Enchanted Evening" and "June Is Bustin' Out All Over" died shortly after midnight.

His lyrical gift helped fashion a brilliant string of musical shows that have become popular classics, from "Rose Marie," "The Desert Song," and "Show Boat," down through "Oklahoma," "South Pacific," "The King and I," and currently the Broadway smash "The Sound of Music."

Since his collaboration with composer Richard Rodgers in 1942, the names of the two men have become a theatrical tradition.

Asked once what he deemed the most profound change in modern musical theater, song-writer Cole Porter, a musical giant in his own right, replied: "Rodgers and Hammerstein."

There first effort was "Oklahoma!" When the curtain rose on that show in March 1943, it took Broadway by storm.

Critics and drama historians alike hailed it as a turning point in theater, a fresh integrated production that kicked traditional musicals in the discard.

"Oklahoma!" ran on Broadway for five years and nine weeks—an all-time record for a musical. It became something of a folk-

Arkansas Charges a Dallas Firm

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—An Arkansas businessman has charged a Dallas firm with wrongfully acquiring management of his company and giving its Arkansas accounts to a subsidiary.

R. B. Bruner, Little Rock, president of Rich Plan of Springfield, Mo., Inc., contended in a complaint filed in U.S. District Court yesterday that the actions gave Rich Plan Corp. of Dallas, Tex., a monopoly of frozen food business in Arkansas. He contended this violated federal anti-trust laws.

The Rich Plan sells frozen foods and home freezers.

Bruner asked $300,000 damages under anti-trust laws, $50,000 because he could not manage his firm and $30,000 for other reasons.

Iron Lungs to Japs
TACHIKAWA AIR BASE, Japan (AP)—A U.S. Air Force mercy flight brought four iron lungs to Japan today for children stricken in the country's worst polio epidemic.

The respirators, supplied by the U.S. March of Dimes, were flown on to Hokkaido, Japan's northernmost main island, where 57 children have died so far in the epidemic and 673 others have been stricken.

lore itself and inspired a new school of musical shows.

While "Oklahoma!" ran its successful course, Rodgers and Hammerstein turned their hand to other shows.

By 1950 eight more musicals had been created, nearly all of them major triumphs, including "Carousel," "Allegro," "Me and Juliet," "Pipe Dream," and "Flower Drum Song."

Hammerstein continued to work all though plagued by the growing pains of cancer. Early this month those close to him knew he could not last much longer.

At his bedside when he died at 12:20 a.m. were a nurse and two doctors. In a room nearby were his wife, Dorothy, his daughter, Mrs. Philip Mathias, and his sons William and James. He had been in a coma since Monday evening.

Says Keep Farm Glamorized
LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The way to keep people on the farm, a school board president says, is to glamorize farming.

Sam P. Browne Jr. of Newport told Arkansas vocational teachers yesterday that farming should be pictured "as a profession instead of a project."

When people read about opportunities in other fields, he said, "people begin to believe that there is no glamor in farming and that only the martyrs stick with it."

But, he added, "actually it is one of the most glamorous of all professions, and it can offer more freedom than any other profession."

He urged teachers to do a better job of selling this idea to the public.

His conviction resulted in removal from office and a fine of $500, which the jury recommended be suspended. He had been suspended from office when he was indicted by a grand jury.

His attorney claimed in the appeal yesterday that the conviction resulted from politics.

Righters Working in Tennessee

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—The chairman of the National States Rights Party thinks his organization has a good chance of forcing the 1960 presidential election into the House of Representatives.

Arthur Cole said yesterday at nearby LaFollette, Tenn., "I have no idea of winning the election as things now stand, but I think we have a mighty good chance of throwing it into the House of Representatives."

There, the reasoning is, Southerners might be able to bargain for civil rights concessions.

Arkansas Gov. Orval E. Faubus is the party's nominee for president, but Cole said Faubus had not formally accepted.

Faubus said the nomination was without his consent, but he said yesterday he had been "indirectly in touch" with the Party. He declined to elaborate.

Cole said the party will be on the ballot in Alabama and may get on the ballot in Florida. It also is seeking to get on the ballot in Arkansas and Mississippi.

Judge's Case to High Court

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The conviction of former Garland County Judge H. C. (Dusky) Warren on charges of spending public funds in excess of a constitutional limit has been appealed to the Arkansas Supreme Court.

His conviction resulted in removal from office and a fine of $500, which the jury recommended be suspended. He had been suspended from office when he was indicted by a grand jury.

His attorney claimed in the appeal yesterday that the conviction resulted from politics.

New Sub-Killer

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new airborne sub-killer has been added to the Navy's supply of antisubmarine weapons.

It's a nuclear depth charge called "Lulu," light enough to be carried by some helicopters as well as by all planes assigned to antisubmarine warfare.

End to Strike

SOUTHAMPTON, England (AP)—An end to a wildcat seamen's strike in Southampton Monday night cleared the way for the sailing on schedule later this weekend of Britain's Royal Ballet, which opens a U.S. tour in New York early next month.

Salesman in Confession, Police Say

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Police said today a 36-year-old salesman had confessed he rode a train to Pittsburgh, Pa., strangled his wife, then flew to Little Rock.

Chief homicide Detective Tad Botula of the Allegheny County, Pa., police said Robert Phillip Uhlmann had planned the most nearly perfect murder he had ever run into.

Botula said Uhlmann gave a statement admitting the strangulation slaying of his wife Sunday after several hours of questioning last night. Botula said he was convinced Uhlmann had planned to kill his wife when he left Little Rock Saturday.

Uhlmann wrote his own statement in longhand, Botula said, and it was then typed.

Botula said Uhlmann left Little Rock by train at 1:30 a.m. Saturday and arrived in Pittsburgh about 24 hours later. He rode to his house in a taxicab, Botula said, and instructed the driver to return in 20 minutes.

Uhlmann crawled through a window into the house, leaving a door opening would rouse someone, Botula said, but encountered his wife and they quarreled.

They were heard by the four Uhlmann children, who earlier had told police they had seen their father in the house.

After the slaying, by knotting a nylon stocking around the woman's throat, Botula said, Uhlmann met the cab driver and rode to the bus depot. He rode a bus to Cleveland, Ohio, where he caught a plane to Memphis and then flew on to Little Rock.

He was arrested about an hour after he reached Little Rock, on a warrant from Pennsylvania.

Botula said Uhlmann told him he went to Pittsburgh because he heard his wife was having an affair with another man. He said a 32 caliber pistol found when he was arrested was taken along in case the man was at the house, Botula reported.

50 Day Duck Season for Missouri

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—Missouri will have a 50-day duck season this year and a 70-day goose hunting season, the Conservation-Commission announced today.

The duck season will open at noon November 1 and run through December 20. A shortage of ducks in the northern nesting areas caused the commission to cut the daily limit to three and the possession limit to six.

No hunter may have more than one wood duck or one hooded merganser in his bag and the season is closed entirely on the critically short supply of canvasbacks and redheads.

After the noon opening on the first day, both duck and goose shooting will be legal from a half hour before sunrise to sunset.

The commission had the option of setting a 50-day straight season or a 40-day split season and chose the longer period.

For geese the season will run from noon October 14 through December 22 with the bag and possession limits five and five. That may include not more than two Canada or two white-fronted geese or one of each.

In an effort to get a bigger harvest of the plentiful coots and take some of the pressure off of ducks, the commission made the cool bag limit six daily and 12 in possession.

Probe Resumed at Camden

CAMDEN, Ark. (AP)—A Ouachita County Grand Jury which indicted four persons in connection with alleged irregularities in absentee voting has resumed its investigation.

The jury met yesterday for the first time since Aug. 5, when it returned the four indictments after an investigation of the July 2 Democratic primary election.

Last Visit Today for Mrs. Powers

MOSCOW (AP)—Barbara Powers had her last visit today with her husband, Francis Gary Powers, before he is transferred to a new prison outside Moscow and she returns home.

The meeting was calmer than the last one, said her attorney, Frank Rodgers of Roanoke, Va. The previous meeting was a tearful reunion at the end of the trial at which the U2 pilot was sentenced to 30 years for espionage, three years must be served in prison, the balance in a prison colony.

Knee Noise Can Aid Arthritis

WASHINGTON (AP)—The noise that knees make—in sickness and in health—offers a potential new aid in diagnosing arthritis, an Ohio State University doctor said today.

Dr. Herbert Fischer told the third International Congress of Physical Medicine there are remarkable differences in the sounds made by normal and abnormal knee joints when they are moved.

Studies indicate that alterations in the sound pattern may be noticed before physical changes are observable by X-ray, he added in a prepared report.

TWO MINUTE MYSTERY

THE CASE OF THE OLYMPIC ATHLETE

By DONALD J. SOROT

"I've locked the gates," said the aged caretaker. "Nobody will be able to get in or out of the grounds tonight, doctor."

Haledjian nodded approvingly and returned to the mansion of Mildred Emerson. The young heiress had asked him to her house party as a combination guest and protector. In the past week she had received several telephone calls threatening her life.

The most conspicuous of the house guests was the unsteady Bill Walters. The Olympic pole vaulter was rapidly drinking his way out of Mildred's affections.

At midnight, as Haledjian was undressing, he heard Mildred scream and then the reports of two quick shots. Throwing on a robe, he rushed to her bedroom.

"The jewels—stolen!" she gasped. "The thief tried to kill me!"

"Did you see who it was?" demanded Haledjian.

"No—I didn't see anyone. It all occurred so swiftly, I fainted, and when I came to, my jewel box was gone."

"Was your door locked?"

"Yes. I had to unlock it to admit you," the trembling girl replied. "The thief must have climbed through the window."

"Impossible," said Haledjian, drawing back the curtains. "It's a sheer 15-foot drop to the ground."

Below, Haledjian saw the caretaker playing his flashlight in the flowerbed beneath the window.

"See any ladder marks?" inquired the criminologist.

"None. Just a bunch of footprints to the flowerbed."

Although the girl had claimed that she had seen the thief, she had used a pole to climb to her window.

But when Haledjian had climbed down, he had found no ladder marks.

He was baffled. The footprints were those of Mildred Emerson—of trying to climb the flowerbed.

Finals in Junior Legion Playoffs

NEWPORT, Ark. (AP) — By tomorrow night, New Orleans or Nacogdoches, Tex., will be on the way to Hastings, Neb., as the Region 4 representative in the National American Legion Junior baseball tournament.

The two teams meet today in the final game, brought about by a 6-4 trimming. Nacogdoches administered yesterday to New Orleans. The Louisiana team had been beaten previously in the double-elimination regional tournament.

A home run by Larry Franks in the eighth inning actually provided Nacogdoches' winning margin. It gave the Texans a 5-0 lead and a sufficient cushion to enable them to withstand a four-run home run slammed by Richard Romiger at New Orleans in the ninth.

Nacogdoches scored once in the second inning, twice in the fourth and once in the seventh. They got eight hits while Texas pitcher John Collier gave up only six, three of them in the final inning.

The national competition starts Aug. 28.

U.S. Teams Arrive for Olympics

ROME (AP)—Two of America's potential world-beating teams — track and basketball — arrive today on an Olympic Games scene

While the Yankees are seeing double, the White Sox have a chance to go-go. After their two swipes at New York, the Sox go to Boston for two, then play two at Baltimore. The Orioles have three games with Detroit and two with Kansas City before the White Sox play at Baltimore Sunday and Monday.

The AL had a day off Monday. In the National League Los Angeles defeated San Francisco 8-5, and the Chicago Cubs rapped Cincinnati 6-3 in the only games scheduled.

Program for U. S. Handicapped Told

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Welfare Arthur S. Flemming said today the nation is "on the verge" of introducing a new program of rehabilitation for the physically handicapped.

Present federal-state programs of vocational rehabilitation are now restoring nearly 90,000 disabled persons a year to employment, Flemming said in an address to the Third International Congress of Physical Medicine.

Physical medicine specialists from nearly 40 nations, including the Soviet Union, are attending the Congress.

Uncle Sam's tracksters and basketballers came belatedly from impressive exhibitions in Switzerland to join a powerful United States squad which hopes to spill the Soviet Union in the run for Olympic gold medals.

Nixon Can't Say Things Kennedy Can

By JAMES MARLOW,
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon, compared with Sen. John F. Kennedy, his Democratic rival for the presidency, is like a man walking in an egg factory.

As the Republican candidate, Nixon can't afford to repudiate either the President or his administration or to antagonize Republicans.

Yet his campaign strategy is to try to sell himself rather than the Republican brand of government or even the Eisenhower brand.

Now then can he project an image of himself different from Eisenhower and the acts and attitudes of the Eisenhower administration without appearing to criticize?

He is doing it bit by bit, nevertheless, on civil rights, defense spending, foreign policy, a farm program.

Eisenhower has been criticized for not asserting more leadership in the field of civil rights, Nixon, without criticizing the President, says that as president he would take the initiative and urge his cabinet to do so to find solutions.

Democrats and others have criticized the record of the Eisenhower administration. Nixon, again avoiding criticism, says the record of the administration is not something to stand on but to build on.

Eisenhower has insisted defense spending was sufficiently high. The Democrats have contended the administration has not been doing enough to keep ahead of the Russians.

Nixon moved beyond Eisenhower's position by accepting New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's view that the defense program should be stepped up.

For seven years Eisenhower has backed up Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson, with whom a lot of farmers are unhappy.

Kennedy is free to complain to a U.S. President. Eisenhower's leadership—or lack of it—and blame the Republican administration for mistakes at home and abroad. Not Nixon, even if he wanted to.

THE STORY: Brett Fasken offers his help to Rancher Trone and his sister Lola, who are embroiled in a range war with Brett's sister Jo Fasken. Lola is uncertain about trusting Brett. She asks if Brett is trying to help on account of Jo.

CHAPTER XIV
Brett searched his thoughts. She had hard eyes to meet.

Nixon has avoided any direct criticism of the administration's farm program.

Yet he has made it clear he doesn't go along with Eisenhower and Benson on the farm program. He says he considers it essential to get away from the "rigid positions of the last seven years and make a break through the stalemate."

For years Democrats have pounded on Eisenhower for not assuming a far more active personal role in the conduct of foreign affairs, particularly during the lifetime of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

Probably more than any president in history Eisenhower relied on his secretary of state—Dulles, that is—for handling foreign policy.

Nixon, very much aware of the criticism against Eisenhower in this field, meets it by saying that, if elected, he will exercise more direct control than does Eisenhower.

He said his views do not involve criticism of the Eisenhower administration.

Nomination of Tyler Approved

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Judiciary Committee finally approved the long-stalled nomination of Harold R. Tyler Jr. as head of the Justice Department's Civil Rights Division.

The subcommittee delayed further, however, a vote on the nomination of Robert A. Bicks as assistant attorney general in charge of the antitrust division, pending further hearings Wednesday by a subcommittee. His nomination has been pending since May.

Sens. James O. Eastland (D-Miss.) the committee chairman, and Kenneth B. Keating (R-N.Y.) said Tyler's nomination was approved today by a divided vote. He did not announce who had voted for and against Tyler, whose nomination has hung fire before the group since January. He serves under a recess appointment.

The nomination now goes to the Senate for consideration.

Keating had entered the closed-door meeting announcing he intended to try to "blast loose the nomination log jam," holding up action on both Tyler and Bicks. He told newsmen his motion to take up the Tyler nomination was approved without debate.

But he said a subcommittee headed by Eastland reported it had not yet completed hearings on the Bicks nomination and had not yet received "some information requested from the Justice Department."

The full Judiciary Committee has no further meetings definitely scheduled. Keating said he would ask that a meeting be called later this week to act on Bicks or, alternatively, that Eastland poll the committee on the nomination.

his shoulder. The girl might have read his mind. She asked, "Could anyone believe a man would go against his sister?"

"Probably not," Brett grunted. "They sure won't expect me to."

He stepped through the door, but on the porch her voice stopped him. "They won't expect you to work for nothing. We haven't any money to spend on help but, if that's how you want it, put your stuff in the bunkhouse."

When Rhode Island Red tore away from Scab 8 he had only one impulse—to make good his escape. Before he had hardly put Trone's buildings out of sight, a second consideration anchored all of his attention. Red had no false impression of where he stood around Packer's Crossing; when word of this got out the whole country might be after him.

Panic welled him off from rational thinking and, suddenly, spurs were not enough. He began to flail the horse with his quirt.

Lather came through the wet dark of its coat, a rattle got into the animal's breathing. The pounding hoofs faltered and Red flung a look over his shoulder.

Resentment began to rise in him then, inspired by his recollection of Brett and his balked relations with Lola. The girl wouldn't want that kind of thing known. She hadn't been hurt.

Then the scheme which had slipped Red's mind came back and he stopped the staggering horse, sitting it there on braced legs while the anger and spite and all the kill-hungry hate in him swirled round his plan, considering the odds, pre-savoring the heady aroma of triumph.

Tice chewed on the stump of a cold cigar, making no attempt to mask his dislike. This was the third dark after the expulsion of Trone at that meeting. Red had just ridden in, hadn't stopped at the house—enough in itself to have roused the segundo's suspicions; and the horse he got off of didn't belong to Hobbied O. Standing in the doorway of his quarters with the light streaming over his shoulders, Tice said, "Reckoned you'd pulled your picket pin," and considered the discolored bruise on Red's jaw.

"Hoped you mean, ain't it? You going to keep me out here on this stop all night?"

Tice reluctantly stepped aside and Red came through the door, shutting it back of him. Tice, disquieted, shoved a chair out of his way and took up a stand where the light shone full in the kid's face.

"You got somethin' to say to me, say it an' get out," he growled.

The kid, gingerly fingering his bruised jaw, grinned slyly. "Time you and me got together for a change."

"What's that supposed to mean?"

Red was trying to seem casual, confident of victory.

"I'll put it right in your lap. When I marry this spread you'll run it."

"I'm runnin' it now—"

"Gettin' all you want, are you?" Red grinned wickedly. "I can pretty it up for you—if you want to string along. When Jo says 'I do' I'll see one third of the yield—after pay-offs—gets into your pockets. That's a lot of money."

Expulsion of Russia Asked

WASHINGTON (AP)—A resolution calling for the United States to seek the Soviet Union's expulsion from the United Nations unless the U.S.S.R. removes its forces from Hungary was introduced in the House today.

Rep. Michael A. Feighan (D-Ohio), author of the resolution, said an effort along these lines by the United States would provide "a formal, full-scale test" which would rid itself of a member which refuses to honor its obligations under the charter.

Mourning Bells

COLOMBO, Ceylon (AP)—Mourning bells tolled in nearly 1,000 Roman Catholic churches throughout Ceylon Sunday in protest against the government's decision to take over schools run by religious bodies with financial aid from the state.

Declares U. S. Greatest of Powers

DETROIT (AP)—"The United States is the greatest power on earth," Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates Jr. told the opening session today of the 1st national convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Gates also said "our limited war forces are strong and ready." Another speaker to 14,000 assembled veterans of American wars, the man who designed the U2 plane, urged the United States to "shut up" about its defense progress.

This was Clarence L. Johnson, a vice president of Lockheed Aircraft Corp.

Over the years during the development of the U2 program it was essential that we learned how to keep our mouths closed. John son said "I would like to say that it would be a splendid idea if we could carry out this tactic in a large number of other defense fields."

Francis Gary Powers was captured flying a U2 on a mission over the Soviet Union.

Mrs. Powers to Make Appeal

MOSCOW (AP)—Barbara Powers appealed today to a tribunal Nikita S. Khrushchev has set up so she can ask for money for her husband, Francis Gary Powers, the U2 pilot convicted of espionage against the Soviet Union.

Her attorney delivered to the Kremlin a three-page letter the 25-year-old wife of the American flier wrote by hand.

President Zachary Taylor and James Madison were second cousins.

Economy of Pipeline Transportation

Pipelines in the United States are delivering natural gas, crude oil and refined oil products over long distances at surprisingly low costs.

As an example: one gallon of gasoline can be transported by Texas Eastern's Little Big Inch products pipeline from Houston to Chicago—a distance of 1125 miles—for one cent.

The economy of pipeline transportation is one of the major reasons why natural gas and petroleum products are now supplying over half of the country's energy requirements, and why demand for this form of energy is expected almost to double during the next 20 years.

Texas Eastern's role as a pipeline of energy is constantly being enlarged through the expansion of its 2000-mile Little Big Inch products pipeline system and its 6300-mile natural gas pipeline system.
